Reforming CA Labor Laws

CABIA is a trade organization founded in 2017 by business executives and entrepreneurs to fix California's worst law: the Private Attorneys General Act (PAGA).

More than 35,000 PAGA complaints have been filed against employers since 2004. The problem has grown worse in recent years: In 2016, more than 5,000 PAGA complaints were filed – an astonishing 1,440 percent increase from the law's first year in effect.

The Alliance is led by a team of experienced California business owners and communicators committed to creating a regulatory climate that fosters the creation of new businesses and helps existing ones prosper.

Bio:

Tom Manzo runs a mid-sized manufacturing business. Mr. Manzo was born in Detroit, Michigan . He attended Oakland Community College and received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Walsh College while working fulltime. He is certified from Stanford in Project Management. Tom has additional training in executive education from the USC Marshall School Of Business in strategic management and executive leadership skills.

The mid-sized manufacturing business Manzo runs has almost 200 employees, and he has been there for 14 years. Manzo got into sales in Detroit and opened his own company supplying repair services to most tier one and tier two suppliers related to the plastic injection molding industry. The company he started was sold, and he consulted with a new company.

Tom is founder and president of CABIA, a nonprofit organization dedicated to changing the burdensome and unfair labor laws in California. He decided to take action when his company was hit with a Private Attorney General Act (PAGA) lawsuit for ridiculous claims. He realized the 1,000+ pages of California labor law are nothing more than a tool for plaintiffs' attorneys to use . Before taking the leap to create a new organization for this effort, he reached out to other business organizations to see if they were interested in the fight. While trying to connect with politicians as an individual or even a company seemed impossible, Tom recognized that California businesses needed a voice and helped found CABIA.

Tom is also certified by SHRM in the California Law HR Speciality.

A Message from the Chair

Welcome API Members

As we prepare for our August meeting, we had a great meeting last month. Vince Fong gave us some hopeful news and reminded us all that many of the issues that concern us are rooted at the local and state level. We will be working to invite some of the local candidates to hear their position on our industry to hopefully have more across the aisle agreements. Please join us to ask the questions that matter most to you and our families. Our guest speaker this Month will be Tom Manzo with California Business Industrial Alliance to speak on some of the broken labor laws and possible path forward. Our Technical Session will be John Rettig with Farwest Corrosion. We will once again be taking donations for the Oil Can Do It food drive during the meeting. We plan to use all ticket sales for the super raffle prize to go towards the Oil Can Do drive that supports the Gleaners. It promises to be a good time and I am looking forward to seeing all of you there.

Our Fall Fun Shoot registration, including ammunition for 5-man teams, is available online for October 7th. This event is close to half full, so please reserve your Team quickly as this is a great event every year.

Our August Meeting will be held at 7900 Downing Ave in Bakersfield. I am looking forward to seeing all of you on August 16th. I would love to hear your feedback, comments, Ideas, and suggestions. Please feel free to contact me Rthibodeaux@keyenergy.com or apibakersfieldchapter@gmail.com or call 661.205.3088

10 in 2022: Ten Policies to Unleash American Energy and Fuel Recovery

America's core promise – the freedom to be, to create, to aspire – drives the opportunity for all Americans to have better lives and reach new heights. American energy empowers American opportunity. Given today's global unrest and economic uncertainty, this has never been more true.

Americans have been here before, with fuel shortages in the 1970s serving as a vivid reminder. Today, energy demand is outstripping supply. Inflation is the highest it has been in 40 years. Fuel prices have soared. Putin's brutal aggression in Ukraine has united the West against his regime and the energy he once sold to Europe. It is all connected – and alarming. But a solution is beneath our feet.

Our nation is blessed with abundant natural gas and oil that is the envy of other countries. It is a foundation of our economy, supporting more than 11 million U.S. jobs, and makes our American way of life possible. It has revived Main Street storefronts, restored U.S. manufacturing, driven job creation and bolstered our nation's ability to compete. It has made America safer in a turbulent world.

Given global circumstances, it is time for an energy awakening – for the natural gas and oil supply chain and the government at all levels to open a new era of working together to ensure that essential energy resources are unlocked; to encourage investment opportunities and accelerate infrastructure development; and to strengthen global energy security, affordability and reliability.

Bottom line: Washington policymakers must confront the global mismatch between demand and supply that has driven higher fuel prices by supporting greater U.S. production. To address the growing crisis we face, Congress and the President must support energy investment, create new access and keep regulation from unnecessarily restricting energy growth. The world is calling out for energy leadership. America can and should step up fast.

1. Lift Development Restrictions on Federal Lands and Waters The Department of the Interior (DOI) should swiftly issue a 5-year program for the Outer Continental Shelf and hold mandated quarterly onshore lease sales with equitable terms. DOI should reinstate canceled sales and valid leases on federal lands and waters.
2. Designate Critical Energy Infrastructure Projects Congress should authorize critical energy infrastructure projects to support the production, processing and delivery of energy. These projects would be of such concern to the national interest that they would be entitled to undergo a streamlined review and permitting process not to exceed one year.
3. Fix the NEPA Permitting Process The Biden administration should revise the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) process by establishing agency uniformity in reviews, limiting reviews to two years, and reducing bureaucratic burdens placed on project proponents in terms of size and scope of application submissions.
4. Accelerate LNG Exports and Approve Pending LNG Applications Congress should amend the Natural Gas Act to streamline the Department of Energy (DOE) to a single approval process for all U.S. liquefied natural gas (LNG) projects. DOE should approve pending LNG applications to enable the U.S. to deliver reliable energy to our allies abroad.
5. Unlock Investment and Access to Capital The Securities and Exchange Commission should reconsider its overly burdensome and ineffective climate disclosure proposal and the Biden administration should ensure open capital markets where access is based upon individual company merit free from artificial constraints based on government-preferred investment allocations.
6. Dismantle Supply Chain Bottlenecks President Biden should rescind steel tariffs that remain on imports from U.S. allies as steel is a critical component of energy production, transportation, and refining. The Biden administration should accelerate efforts to relieve port congestion so that equipment necessary for energy development can be delivered and installed.
7. Advance Lower Carbon Energy Tax Provisions Congress should expand and extend Section 45Q tax credits for carbon capture, utilization, and storage development and create a new tax credit for hydrogen produced from all sources.
8. Protect Competition in the Use of Refining Technologies The Biden administration should ensure that future federal agency rulemakings continue to allow U.S. refineries to use the existing critical process technologies to produce the fuels needed for global energy markets.
9. End Permitting Obstruction on Natural Gas Projects The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission should cease efforts to overstep its permitting authority under the Natural Gas Act and should adhere to traditional considerations of public needs as well as focus on direct impacts arising from the construction and operation of natural gas projects.
10. Advance the Energy Workforce of the Future Congress and the Biden administration should support the training and education of a diverse workforce through increased funding of work-based learning and advancement of STEM programs to nurture the skills necessary to construct and operate oil, natural gas and other energy infrastructure.

API Social Sponsorship

The American Petroleum Institute SJV Chapter is actively looking for networking social sponsorships. These networking socials help to build relationships, market products or services, and promote a positive outlook on the local oil and natural gas industry.

Sponsoring a social will include the following

- Email distribution of your company name to the API contact list (600+ industry related emails)
- Company logo and promotional items can be promoted at sign in/raffle table during the social
- Social event turnout is typically 40-60 industry related people
- Event will be promoted at API general meeting and API newsletter (600+ industry related emails)
- Possibility to have joint social with SPE (Society Petroleum Engineers) which will include their email distribution/newsletter promotion

Social Sponsorship Cost

- Cost can range from $600 - $2,000+
- Lower end sponsorships typically do not involve a private room secluded for the event but more of a brewery type setting providing appetizers or food for guest
- Higher end sponsorships will typically have a private room (petroleum club, 1933) or any place that will accommodate the event (providing appetizers/Dinner/Alcohol or what is within the budget)
- We can work with any budget
- If sponsorship costs are too high, we can look to host a co-sponsor social (you and another company) cost split in half
